

Clip 16 – Asa Briggs

OUOH011_clip1

From: Asa Briggs Oral History Interview on 09/09/2008

Asa Briggs: Now Jennie from the start believed that The Open University should be a quality university, that it should be like other universities in many respects, that it should command the support of other universities, and that it was her task to ensure that this conception of an open university, rather than a distance learning institution, should predominate.